Rare Geese Grounded By Airline Strike

SEATTLE (AP) — Fourteen rare Tule geese, grounded by the airlines strike, are being cared for in the Woodland Park Zoo here.

Howard Cantrell, U. S. Game management agent who flew the geese here from Fairbanks, Alaska, said Tule geese are fast becoming extinct.

Cantrell is taking the four adult geese and 10 goslings to the National Wildlife Exhibit at Patuxent, Md. Direct connections from Seattle to the East have been severed by the airlines tieup.
